Some good news to share as we head into June. First, John Stanton is back with us again this summer, and will be with us until October. Second, Andrea Heinstadt is joining our weekend lector group; Andrea has served as a lector at weekday morning Masses for a number of years. "Welcome" to John and Andrea! Great to have you with us.

[One of our deacons will read the Prayer of the Faithful at the Masses marked with an asterisk.]

A brief note about scheduling.....it will help me if you can let me know every date that you can be available in a month. If it's only one weekend a month, that's fine. But if you can be available on two, three or four weekends in a particular month, please let me know that. I won't be scheduling you to read on all of the dates you can be available, but it gives me more flexibility in putting a schedule together, and increases the likelihood that I'll be able to schedule you read each month. Thank you!

Happy June, everyone!
